Seymour Park Food Forest project is located inside the Frank B. Seymour Park near the Broadway and Shipyard districts. This project aims to help alleviate food insecurity and food deserts within the City of Green Bay by growing healthy local food in this public park in a way that is sustainable, costs less money over time, and reduces maintenance for the Parks, Recreation & Forestry Department. Many thanks for a generous donation from St. Norbert Abbey!

My New Leaf Foods Journey

My name is Kongcheng Thao, and I am a Hmong person born in America. I currently study at the University of Wisconsin Green Bay and worked with New Leaf Foods as an AmeriCorps Member. I had the honor of interviewing one of the best Asian Restaurants in the Green Bay Area--Pho #1 Noodle and Grill--located at 2201 S Oneida St #1 in Ashwaubenon. Read full Article HERE

Volunteer Spotlight

Introducing our newest board member! Mallaidh Mleziva

Mallaidh is a farmer and a marketer. She is passionate about connecting farmers and consumers to create a thriving local food system.

As the owner of MJM Farm Marketing LLC, she helps farmers, ranchers, and rural business owners sow and grow their marketing efforts. During her free time you can find Mallaidh spending time with her cows or chickens, baking a new sourdough creation, or buried deep in yet another home renovation project.
